I am a Licensed Independent Clinical Social Worker (LICSW) in the state of Vermont. I abide by the legal and ethical regulations set forth by that state, and by the ethical regulations of my profession.

I am currently in private practice providing psychotherapy to children, adolescents, young adults, and families, as well as providing support and guidance to parents. I develop biopsychosocial assessments and provide psychotherapy to address a wide range of emotional and behavioral concerns. I have previously worked in a community mental health setting with children, adolescents and families as well as in the emergency services department with people of all ages where I provided suicide assessments/ screenings, developed safety plans, and placed clients in residential/hospital settings. Along with providing direct service I have also held the role of clinical supervisor/manager of the children and families department at a community mental health center.
